Friendship

Friendship means a lot to people. Friendship means a lot to me. Friendship is very powerful in many different ways. It can bring two people together even when they don't expect it. Adults and children both need friendship in their lives. Without friendship, man would not choose to live. We all need friends and people who love us surrounding us in our lives. We are happy in life because of our friends.

Sometimes we get mad at our parents or even our own self. Our friends can help us work it out. They understand us more than our parents sometimes. But our parents are our friends too. They are our friends because they watch us through the path of life. They make sure we are safe through the journey, trying to get us out of trouble, keeping us happy. You might not realize this but your parents are the greatest friends you will ever have. Even if they are not your age, they are very very special. It might seem they are being mean to you, but they are just looking out for you.

Friendship is about everybody that loves you and if they love you, make sure you love them back. Being respectful and generous reflects that you love someone. You should make sure you are nice to everybody even if you dislike them. You should try to get along with everybody. Friendship is up to you. The way you treat someone can change their mood. If you make others happy, you will be happy too. Just talking to someone can make you friends with them. Friendship doesn't always have to happen suddenly. It can take a long time to develop a strong bond between each other.

Friendship changes the way we feel in a lot of ways. Friendship can make us mad, friendship can make us happy. But being mad at each other shouldn't stop us from being friends. Because friendship makes us happy in many more ways. We shouldn't let bad feelings go too far. Friendship can be hard at times, we have to overcome our differences and keep on going. A strong friendship is like a steady boat, it keeps on floating. Sometimes friends make you do things you are not comfortable doing. Tell them that you don't want to do it. If they don't listen, they are not true friends. Friends are loyal and kind to each other. They shouldn't make you feel uncomfortable.

Friendship is like a butterfly, it soars through the wind looking for new adventures. Friendship is like a tree, it grows taller and stronger, greener and better, standing tall through the seasons. Friendship is like glue, it sticks two people together. It's like a fish swimming through the sea blocking away the sharks. Friendship can lead to a life of love and harmony. It goes farther than ever. An old friend is a trusted friend. Try hard to keep the bonds with your old friends. They are the ones who have been with you through the path of life. Trust your friends, they will trust you.

Friendship can last a lifetime.
